Letter from the Pastor

Dear Friends in Christ,

Everything Old is New Again! That's the theme for the summer! You are gonna see new rooms, new parking, new staff, and new opportunities for growth! So, while it's the same old ministry that has been chugging along for over 65 years, it also as these new wrinkles to it that will feel awesome as we get used to them and see the benefits of them!

We are adding two new teachers this year, Bob in 5th grade and Sherree in Kindergarten, and whoever is our new PREK 3 teacher

(as of the writing of this letter we still did not know), and Deb in a new position as church office administrative secretary, not a new face but a new position. So that will be awesome to see those new faces joyfully serving our wonderful children at school and patrons in church.

Next, we have fixed up the bathrooms in the school basement, reconfigured the front door to the school and the parking lot behind the Christian Life Center, and totally remodeled the social hall with new flooring and configured it for multi-use with a youth emphasis. It will be much more accommodating for casual meetings and still serve our traditional use faithfully. These changes have been in the works for some time and now finally will be ready to go, having been completed over the summer.

Finally, we are working on a new bible fellowship group for our 18-30 age group that traditionally get less attention than they should. With some opportunity for fellowship, devotion, and activities geared toward

Stewardship News

Romans 8:18 – “For I consider that the sufferings of this present time are not worth comparing with the glory that is to be revealed to us.” It is very easy to get caught up in the present and lose track of our ultimate destiny in the kingdom of God. St. Paul encourages us to keep eternity in mind. This certainly applies to our support for the Gospel — if we keep our focus on “the glory to be revealed” we will see our tithes and offerings in a new light.

Food Safety: Avoiding Food Poisoning

About 1 in 6 Americans will develop a case of food poisoning this year. Food poisoning is caused by a variety of bacteria, viruses, and parasites. People at special risk include children under 5 years and people over 65 years, pregnant women, and people with immune disorders or those receiving immunosuppressant treatments (like some cancer chemotherapies). There are several approaches to fending off food poisonings.

Wash hands, utensils, and surfaces often

Germs that can make you sick can survive in many places around your kitchen, including in/on your food, hands, utensils, cutting boards, and countertops. Make sure your hands, cooking utensils, and countertops are clean. Wash your hands for 20 seconds with plain soap and water before, during, and after preparing food; rinse then dry hands with a clean towel. Encourage children and adults to wash their hands before eating as well. Wash your pans, utensils, plates, bowls, cutting boards and countertops with hot, soapy water. Dry with clean towels. Using dishwasher cycles with hot water and drying temperatures is a great way to disinfect cooking implements.

Rinse fruits and vegetables under running water (no soap, bleach or produce-washing products are necessary). Use a clean vegetable brush on firm fruits and vegetables, like melon or squash. Dry produce on paper towels or clean cloths. DO NOT wash eggs, fish, poultry, or meat – washing these foods can spread harmful germs on your countertops.

Keep produce, raw flour, uncooked eggs, seafood, poultry and meat separate

Keep raw ingredients separate from each other, in your shopping cart and refrigerator – use plastic bags to separate these items. Keep eggs in their original carton in the main part of your refrigerator (not the door). Use separate cutting boards and plates for produce, meat, poultry, seafood, and eggs. Surprisingly, flour that has not been cooked can also be contaminated with harmful bacteria, such as E. Coli and Salmonella: another great reason NOT to eat raw cookie or cake dough!

Also use separate plates and utensils for cooked and raw foods. Don't reuse an unwashed plate for cooked meat that was also used to hold raw meat. Use hot, soapy water to thoroughly wash plates, utensils, and cutting boards that touched raw meat, poultry, seafood, eggs, or flour.

Cook foods to the correct temperature

Use a food thermometer to be sure your food is cooked to a safe temperature. Insert the thermometer in the thickest part of the food (not touching bone, fat, or gristle). Ensure the item cooked reaches the minimum temperature as suggested (see www.foodsafety.gov/food-safety-charts/safe-minimum-internal-temperatures ). Keep hot foods at 140°F or more using slow cookers or warming trays.

Chill and freeze

Bacteria that cause food poisoning multiply more rapidly between 40°F and 140°F. Make sure your refrigerator temperature is set at 40°F (or below) and your freezer to 0°F (or below). Perishable foods must be refrigerated at 2 hours. If the environmental temperature is above 90°F (like in a hot car or at a picnic), refrigerate it at 1 hour. Always thaw or marinate foods in the refrigerator. Freeze perishable foods if they will not be used within their "use by" dates; remember freezing does not kill germs but it should keep the food safe until it's cooked. Clear out your refrigerator at least once a week to dispose of foods and leftovers that may no longer be safe. See www.foodsafety.gov/food-safety-charts/cold-food-storage-charts for advice on how long to keep different foods. If in doubt, throw it out!

Stephen Ministry

Do You Know Someone Who Is Hurting?

If you know someone—perhaps a friend, neighbor, coworker, or relative—who is going through a difficult time, there's a wonderful way you can help them receive the care and support they need. Tell them about Stephen Ministry! Our Stephen Ministers have received 50 hours of training to provide high-quality, confidential, one-to-one, Christian care to hurting people. Stephen Ministers meet weekly with their care receivers to listen, care, encourage, and provide emotional and spiritual support. (Males are matched with males, and females are matched with females.) The caring relationship lasts for as long as the person needs care. It's free, and it's a powerful way you can help a hurting friend.

To learn how to connect someone you know with a Stephen Minister, talk with one of our Stephen Ministry Leaders: Neal & Barbara Van Valkenburg. Our Stephen Ministers are there to care!

Stewardship News—July

Go ... Sell All You Have?

“What must I do to inherit eternal life?” asked the rich young ruler. Jesus said, “You know the commandments.” And he replied, “All these I have kept from my youth.” And Jesus said to him, “One thing you still lack. Sell all that you have and distribute to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me” (Luke 18:18–22).

When we hear this story, this question comes to mind: is Jesus speaking to us also, or only to the rich young ruler? In other words, is Jesus telling us to sell all that we have and give it to the poor?

As good Lutherans, we answer, “No!” But why? Why should we not sell all that we have and distribute it to the poor? The simplest explanation is this: if we sold everything we have, our wife and our children would be neglected. In other words, to sell everything we have and give it to the poor would ignore, even abandon, those whom God has placed in our care. Our money, every-thing we have, is not to be used solely for the church. But that doesn’t excuse us from using our money for the purpose God intends.

Everyone has three stations in life, three spheres in which we live and are to be of service to our neighbors. These stations are the church, the family and society. We are members of all three of these by birth. We are born into the church by water and the Word of God, and our duties to others in the church arise from our Baptism into the church. We are born into a family, and our duties to others stem from our birth into that family. Finally, we are born into society, which is simply a further extension of our birth into our family. The duties we have toward other members of society come from either our own birth or the birth of others into the same society.

All that we have and all that we are ought to be pressed into service for the church, the family and society. If we were to sell all we have and give only to one, the other two would be neglected, and we would falter in fulfilling our duties.

So, consider your life and all that you have in light of these three stations. You pay taxes to support and help those in society. You save for college for your children, and provide food, clothing and shelter for the members of your family.

But the station that is usually thought of last is the church. Since the needs of the family and society are more immediate, the church is often given what is left over. This is not how it should be. Rather, we are to give of our first fruits, from off the top, the best, even as Abel gave the best of his flock.

This requires forethought. It means that you sit down and make a plan of what you will give from the beginning. It means sticking to it even when it seems that there are other more immediate and pressing things.

And this is all the more necessary now as we enter into periods of time where giving is low due to high unemployment or where restrictions on meeting in church limit opportunities to give. If we love God and His gifts of forgiveness given through the means of grace, which we receive at church and only at church, then we will support it, just as we love our country and our family. For all that we have and all that we are is given to us by our gracious God. He spared no expense for us and our salvation. He gave up His Son to death so that our sins are forgiven, and we will live. What’s more, He provides for all that we need for this body and life. And our lives in this world, among these three spheres of church, family and society are to mirror the generosity of the one who gave us life in all three at birth.

Don’t let the church, your divine family, be an afterthought or even ignored. It is nurturing you, bringing you up in salvation through Word and Sacrament.
